

Ryan D. Adams is the President of Multimedia at CBS Television Distribution. Along with David S. Grant, the VP of Multimedia at CBS, he has overseen the HD remastering of over 200 CBS / Paramount TV series, including the original Star Trek and Star Trek: The Next Generation. At Paramount, Mr. Adams has also supervised the remastering of many feature films for DVD release and HD broadcast. He has also served as an associate producer on TV shows like CBS's The District, Nash Bridges, and FX's The Shield, where he supervised all aspects of post-production. Indeed, Mr. Adams' extensive post-production experience goes back over two decades and includes numerous post-production coordinator credits on TV movies, including the oversight and management of all things post-production, including color correction, visual effects and editing.
